Deakin University would like to acknowledge that the present site of the Burwood Campus is located on the land of the Wurundjeri people. They are connected to this land, have walked this land, and continue to care for it and nurture it for future generations.